Wine is a millenary art, knowing how to drink takes strength through a touristic tour in the culture and knowledge of the world of wine

Come discover the Prosecco! Put together your preferred route, choosing from the proposals offered by our Project Partners.

The oldest wine school in the world opens its doors to international visitors and takes them in the heart of the viticulture and oenology of Veneto Region with trails to uncover the typical agro-food products, the production capacity and the landscapes that historically have characterize these territories.

The Oenological School of Conegliano I.S.I.S.S G.B. Cerletti

The Oenological High School and the Interdepartmental Research Centre for Viticulture and Oenology (C.I.R.V.E.) have developed a project of promotion and valorization of the surrounding territory through the creation of a Network of sharing with Partners that can better represent its heterogeneity. The Project, named "The Temple of Prosecco", has as common denominator the binomial "Viticulture&Oenology" and thanks to the drive of the wine, specifically to Prosecco, the project has defined tourist Itineraries with the aim to drive the visitors of Expo Milano 2015 to the Venetian hinterland.

The tourists can choose the tour them more conformable and each itinerary will start and end at the site of the renowned Oenological School of Conegliano.

The School aims to welcome at the Campus Italian and foreign delegations, giving them the possibility to look into the most advanced researches about wines, about the technique of making sparkling wines, about the best form of vine cultivation for the local viticulture and more generally for the surrounding territory. Visitors can access to all the facilities of the Campus, deepening the researches and experiments in the fields of the Viticulture, the Oenology and the Sensory Analysis.

The visit of the Campus will end at 12:00 am, after that will start a program of activities defined and managed by the Project Partners: approaching tours and Itineraries of knowledge to flavors of traditional and innovative features.
